

Organ Study Bursary

The Vancouver Centre of the RCCO offers an Organ Study Bursary program, awarding up to $400 each to a maximum of two successful applicants per calendar year. In order to be considered for a bursary, an application has to be made in accordance with the following rules:

1. Eligibility:

- Only members of RCCO Vancouver Centre shall apply.
- The applicant must be pursuing studies in organ, piano or choir directing in a recognized institution, or working with a private teacher towards obtaining an RCCO diploma, or have obtained a music degree or RCCO diploma less than one year before applying for this bursary.
- Individuals applying for the first time will receive preference over applicants who have received the bursary in previous years.

2. Purpose:

- The bursary must cover expenses towards courses, masterclasses, and/or other study programs which require extraordinary expenses, such as travel, books, etc.
- The bursary is specifically for organ and vocal/choir directing courses, masterclasses, and other study programs, etc.

3. Amount:

- The maximum amount of the bursary shall be $400 (Canadian) per applicant, per calendar year.
- Documentation and proof of the cost for the courses, masterclasses, or other study program must be submitted with the application form.

4. Send applications to ask@rcco.bc.ca.

- Applications must be received by Vancouver Centre by April 30, 11:59 pm in the application year.
- All applicants will be contacted by May 31 of that year.
